The JOURNAL recognises that labor is the source of all individual and national wealth and insists that it is the duty of the government to fos and protect the laboring masses and not to op-press and enslave them. The JOURNAL furnishes each week, a very large amount of mis-cellaneous reading, profitable and entertaining to the family circle—makes a speciality of it local and State news, giving cor from all points of interest—gives each winter a full weekly synopsis of Legislative and Con-gressional proceedings—pays particular atten-tion to its market reports, which are the fullest of any paper published in the County—and has departments for the Agriculturist, the Mechan-ic, the Housewife and the Children. During the next two months we desire our friends will only lend us a helping hand Scarcely a week passes but that we receiv vishes for our success from our patrons. Will inutes exertion on the part of each one of or will take during the coming year. The violin under Madame Urso's interpretation touches both the heart and the intellect; it is the uttermost of tenderness without sentimentality, as in her rendition of the andante of Mendelssohn's Concerto, in which every note is a tear, not of mere weakness, but expressive of a high, noble weakness, but expressive of a high, noble and profound sentiment. She is a pheand profound sentiment. She is a phenomenal player, comoining with a woman's grace and tenderness the breadth and largeness of manner of a man, and a subtle appreciation of the highest and noblest attributes of the great prophets of violin music. All lovers of good music will be pleased to hear her.

—Last Sunday evening a frightful accident occurred here, resulting in the death of Willis Winchester, son of Mr. F. Winchester, of North Madison. In the morning of that day the deceased, accompanied by his brother and cousin, "jumped" a freight train and rode to Painesville. On their return they again "jumped" the return freight which is due here between 5 and 6 o'clock. Upon reaching the depot here, young Winchester sprang from the forward end of the Caboose and—as appears from subsequent examination—struck against a switch and was thrown back directly under the rear trucks which passed over him, crushing his head in a frightful manner. In consideration of his intimate connection with the latter subject it is almost a matter of regret that it had not been the one chosen for next Wednesday evening. But still the one announced will be of great interest and one that cannot fail to cause the Hall to be filled with an appreciative audience. Possibly no era in the history of any country is replete with more interesting and valuable lessons and incidents than that of the Revolution in France and certainly no public speaker. fended. It is the aim of the Club in its public entertainments to secure the most eminent speakers both in and out of the Church, whose talents command for them intelligent and refined audiences. The main chiest of the writer however in calling France and certainly no public speaker better adapted than Mr. Bradlaugh to blace them in an attractive form before an better adapted than Mr. Bradlaugh to place them in an attractive form before an audience.

Ohio, but as new questions are continually arising concerning the nature and object of our Centennial celebration, it is thought best to explain more fully certain things heretofore only hinted at and to correct the erroneous impression that, sufficient money has already been raised to defray the expenses of the exhibition. It will be remembered that Congress, in ordering this exhibition, made no provision for funds with which to carry it on. The State of Pennsylvania and the City of Philadelphia have furnished over six millions of dollars. The State of New Jersey has contributed one hundred thousand dollars; and New Hampshire, Delaware, and Connecticut, have each contributed ten thousand dollars. Subsciptions and contributions from various parts of the country have amounted to perhaps two millions of dollars more, of which sum Ohio has contributed—exclusive of a donation of five thousand dollars, by the women of Cincinnati, to the women's building—only three thousand dollars. To complete the buildings now in process of erection, the Commission will require one million dollars in addition to that already subscribed, and it is hoped that Ohio will not fail to do her part in making up this amount. The buildings, the Agricultural and the Women's building, The main building and the Agricultural building, are nearly completed, and will be ready for the reception of goods carly in January. The Women's building but the interior finish, the gas and water-pipes, the glass cases for exhibition of the Relic Department, It is to be hoped that the women of Ohio will feel willing to do whatever lies in their power to insure the success of this department, and to assist in raising the amount which Ohio ought to contribute to the general fund. If, in every town, some patriotic woman's work, with possibly the addition of the Relic Department, It is to be hoped that he women of Ohio will feel willing to do whatever lies in their power to insure the success of this department, and to assist in raising the amount, however small, w has grown into a notable industry, and one of special interest to the West. Since Valley Piauo Company has turned out upwards of eighteen hundred finished pianos, and will this year make five hunnred. About one hundred men are employed, and every part of the piano is made in the factory. In labor-saving machinery: in organization of the work and facilities for its production; in the general intelligence and knowledge of the workmen, and in the quality of the work produced, this establishment compares favorably with the best Eastern manufactories, while in economy, in cost of material and production, it has advantages not enjoyed in the East.
